	Item Writing
	Item writers submit test questions to ARRT on a regular basis using a secure website, with payment on a per-item basis. This activity requires submission of five to 15 test questions per month, a one- to two-year commitment, and travel to an item-writing workshop. ARRT covers travel expenses for workshop attendance.
	Examination
	Exam committee members assemble and review examinations. This activity requires one- to three-day meetings twice a year and a commitment of one to four years. ARRT covers travel expenses and honorarium.
	Practice Analysis
	Practice analysis committee members provide input on survey development and data analysis and develop or revise content specifications. This activity requires two-day meetings twice a year and a commitment of three years. ARRT covers travel expenses and honorarium.
	Special Projects
	Special projects activities may include reviewing and commenting on test-related materials or participating in standard-setting studies. This activity typically involves one or two single-day meetings. ARRT covers travel expenses and honorarium.
